JOURNAL OF SYSTEMS MANAGEMENT
1988 ARTICLE INDEX

A Practical Guide To The First Time User/ Systems Developer
Gary Podorowsky — September

Agency Information System For An Insurance Company
A.K. Aggarwal, A.B. Kahn and D. Stevenson — September

An Expert System For Systems Design
Stephen Heinrich and Earl Chrysler — November

Are You Really Ready To Be A Systems Manager?
Neil Freeman, CSP — January

The Art Of Planning: Lessons From History
Randall R. Kline, CSP — April

Business Graphic Packages
Avi Rushinek and Sara Rushinek — March

Change Control Forms Improve The Maintenance Communication Process
Louis J. Beltran — September

Choosing PC Software For Decision-Making
Margaret S. Wu — December

Client Centered Management
Robert J. Rennie — September

Components Of User Work Stations
Michael Lucas Gibson — February

Contract The Independent Computer Consultant
Terrence J. Arter, CSP — January

Current State Of Decision Support System And Expert System Technology
Steven D. Seilheimer, CSP — August

Developing A Successful 'Deskside' Manner For Systems Analysts
Paul D. Maxwell — April

Developing Information Technology Strategies
Howard W. Miller — September

Documentation In A User Work Station Environment
Roy Martin Richards and John C. Windsor — February

The Effective Information Center: Targeting The Individual User For Success
Albert L. Lederer and Victoria L. Spencer — January

Electronic Data Interchange — Current Developments And Prospects
Bor-Yi Tsay — September

End User Computing — The Human Interface
J. Wayne Spence — February

End User Perceptions Of DSS Training And DSS Usage
Peter P. Mykytyn — June

End User Software Selection
Norman P. Archer — July

Expert Systems: Alive And Well!
E. Robert Keller — November

Expert Systems Applications To Managerial Accounting
Jae K. Shim and Jeffry S. Rice — June

Expert Systems As Human Resource Management Decision Tools
Marian M. Extejt and Marc P. Lynn — November

Expert Systems In The Future: The Redistribution Of Power
Jody L. Ryan — November

External — Internal Systems Design
Jerry Yaffe — July

Evaluating Educational Computer Conferencing
Carol S. Saunders and Jeff E. Heyl — April

Evolutionary Strategic Approach To Data Management
Adam Wroblewski and Patricia Dymkar Cupoli, CSP — July

Finding And Selecting Systems Analysts And Designers
Mark M. Blank and David Barratt — March

Guidelines For Success With LANs
Robert B. Fireworker and Hal Stewart — May

How To Survive By Raising Quality While Dropping Costs
Frank Greenwood — September

How Well Do You Write User Documentation?
Patricia A. Klinner and Karolyn K. Friday — December

Incorporating Analyst/Designer Workbenches Into The Systems Curriculum
Robert I. Mann — June

Implementing Expert Systems: Approaches And Caveats
Susan J. Harrington — November

Improving Data Quality
Ray C. Oman and Tyrone B. Ayers — May

Improving Structured Systems Analysis With Video
Paul Henken — May

In Search Of A Rational Approach To Software Property Rights
David B. Sturtevant — October

Information Systems Liability
Charles Walton and Ashley Durham — October

Information Systems Output: Shortcomings And Suggestions
Mark M. Blank and Kevin M. Ryan — August

International Software Protection
Heleneve Parks and Robert A. Fleck — October

Knowledge Systems In Business And Industry
Richard K. Aeh — November

Legal Changes Affecting The Use Of Independent Consultants
Nathan Konecky — August

Local Area Networks: Implementation Of Considerations
Ting-Peng Liang — January

MIS For Strategic Planning And A Competitive Edge
C. Joseph Sass and Teresa A. Keefe — June

MUMPS Is Germinating Business Productivity
Jill Y. Smith and William J. Harvey — April

Management's Biggest Enemy Is Non-Performance
David S. Brown — March

Managing End User Computing
Malcolm Munro and Sid L. Huff — December

Managing The Work Station Environment
Gary T. Hughes — February

Microcomputer Technology Facilities Report Utility Analysis
John G. Voltmer — May

Motivators vs. Demotivators In The IS Environment
J. Daniel Couger — June

The New MIS Professional — Part 1
Robert A. Rouse and Curt Hartog — May

The New MIS Professional — Part 2
Robert A. Rouse and Curt Hartog — June

Object Oriented Programming Explained
Geoffry S. Howard — July

Off the IRM Mark At The Federal Level
Sharon L. Caudle — August

Organizational Culture And New Technologies
Y. Sankar — April

Planning For The Introduction Of New Software
Eric B. Blaustein — September

Principal Information Systems Issues
Wallace A. Wood — November

Progressing Toward The "Ideal" Database
James F. Yaremko — March

Quality Control Of Personal Computing
Jonathan Frank — December

Security, Integrity And Public Acceptance Of Electronic Voting
S. K. Kassicieh, G.H. Kawaguchi and L. Malczynski — December

Selecting Hospital Information Systems
Engming Lin and Rex Blanton — May

Selecting The Right Structured Analysis Software Package
Ralph L. Kliem — August

Self-Study Tools For The Systems Professional
Vincent W. Howell — June

Software Copyright: Innovation, Not Imitation
Matthew T. Grecsek — October

Solving Crime With Database Technology
Douglas B. Bock and Laurie E. Nelson — October

Strategic IRM Plan: User Involvement Spells Success
Darrell S. Corbin — May

Strategies For Managing End User Computing
Timo Saarinen, Jukka Heikkla and Markku Saaksjarvi — August

Structuring Informal Information
John F. Barlow — January

Tomorrow's Organization
Donald L. Gerber, CSP — January

Toward More Successful Project Management
John J. Walsh and Jerome Kanter — January

Use Of Development Methodology And Tools
Jane M. Carey and Raymond McLeod, Jr. — March

Use Of Fourth Generation Languages: Application Development And Documentation Problems
Charles R. Necco and Nancy W. Tsai — August

The User Designer/Developer And The User Work Station
Michael Lucas Gibson and Gary T. Hughes — February

The VDTs Are Here: Health Hazard And All
John Trinkaus and Murray Greenberg — October

What Do Software Development Managers Really Do?
Paul S. Licker, CSP — July